City too costly for insurance pool

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

Mention the words "Granite City" and insurance officials with the Illinois Municipal League will in a paid advertisement Smalley of the IML Risk Management Association — the insurance pool in which the city participates, told the Granite City Council Tuesday night that the city can expect an increase of between $175,000 and $225,000 — or about 30 percent — in its annual premium to IML RMA next year.

The city paid more than $695,000 to the insurance pool last year. The increase will bring the city's annual premium for liability, property, workers compensation and vehicle insurance to nearly $1 million. Smalley said the increase is necessary because the Risk Management Association has lost more than $1.68 million to the city since the city began participating in the pool in 1984.

"We're not trying to force you out. But obviously, for the benefit of the other members in the program, it is necessary to address these problems," Smalley said.

The IML RMA is composed of many municipalities who choose to participate in the program. The municipalities get the advantage of a larger pool to share risks and administrative costs. But some municipalities must pay more into the pool than they contribute to compensate for others — like Granite City — that draw more from the pool than they contribute.

While the city has paid a total of $4,539,158 to IML RMA since 1984, the pool has paid out $6,276,006.

In each year, the city's workers' compensation claims have outnumbered the rest of the claims submitted to the pool, records show.

Since 1991, the city has submitted 245 workers' compensation claims to IML RMA, totaling more than $2 million while contributing only $1,138,143 in workers' compensation premiums.

According to city Safety Director Lynnette Kozar's most recent report, the city had lost a total of 553 days of work due to injuries while on duty for the period of Jan. 1 to Oct. 19 this year. (See INSURANCE, Page 10A)

Car dealer may move to Pontoon

By Hiley Schulte
Staff writer

A car dealership development may be in the future for Pontoon Beach. Representatives for Chrysler attended Tuesday's regular meeting requesting a Tax Increment Financing District for the development.

According to Clerk Lou Whitsell, taxes on land designated as a TIF district are frozen for up to 21 years, and the money from those taxes goes to pay back bonds used to finance the project instead of going to the normal taxing districts.

"They are saying that they'll buy the bonds. The money which is frozen will go back to pay the bond issue," Whitsell said.

"The people that would develop there are actually putting up the money, but those taxes don't see the results until the issue is paid," he said.

Chuck Andrews, who has been working with Chrysler on the development since May of this year, said the project would involve 20 acres of land at the southwest corner of Route 111 and Interstate 270. Emmert Wyss owns the land and backs the project.

"As it stands, Chrysler Corporation has requested permission from surrounding dealers to relocate Don Johnston Chrysler-Dodge to the corner of 111 and 270," Andrews said.

The Don Johnston dealership is currently located at 19th Street and Grand Avenue in downtown Granite City.

Andrews said the $11 million-dollar project would involve 20 acres to start, with a possible option for additional acreage.

Village Attorney Keith Jensen advised the board that before any decisions can be made, the board will have to know exactly how the land will be developed, and the stages of that development.

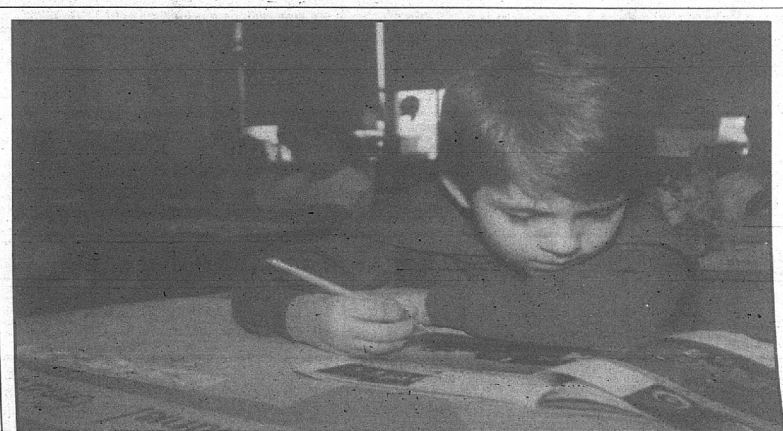

"Board members need to be educated on what the project is, and those involved need to know what the village needs. The other taxing bodies aren't going to want to be involved unless there is a full proposal, so we need to get with the village," said Edward Roth, attorney for Don Johnston Chrysler-Dodge Inc.

Not every parcel of land qualifies as a TIF district. State statute requires that property meets certain conditions to prove "blighting."

Jensen agreed, and said that so far the development is just a proposal and input from other taxing bodies is welcome.

The board and Chrysler representatives agreed to hold an informational meeting at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 1.

Discussions will center on preliminary plans including project and study cost, and the steps that would have to be taken to turn the land into a TIF district.

Pontoon Beach cleaning up

By Hiley Schulte
Staff writer

In an effort to clean up Pontoon Beach, two new village ordinances are in the works.

The Pontoon Beach Village Board of Trustees is expected to act on an ordinance at its next meeting that would limit the time that repair shops can store vehicles. Another ordinance under consideration would involve removing homes that do not meet village codes.

The board approved a motion by Trustee Bob Vincent authorizing village attorney Keith Jensen to draft an ordinance limiting storage time of automobiles, boats and other vehicles at repair shops to 30 days at Tuesday's meeting.

Apparently, a repair shop on Pontoon Road in Pontoon Beach has had several items parked on its lawn for months. Vincent said the shop owner has been asked several times to remove the items.

"It looks awful. I'm just tired of it, and it's time we do something about it," Vincent said.

Vincent also reported that run-down mobile homes are being transported to Pontoon Beach from Chicago and sold at cheap prices. "They've been selling these trailers for $600, and then it's going to take $2,000 to fix them. It's bait and switch."

Vincent said that mobile homes are often sold to single mothers who are unaware that certain building, electrical and plumbing codes must be met before the homes can be placed on a lot.

If the codes are not met, the village won't issue an occupancy permit, and the owners do not have a place for the mobile homes.

Vincent said he doesn't think it's fair that these people are buying homes and not knowing that they may have to spend even more to get the home up to code.

Trustee Mike Mack suggested posting on mobile home lots that all occupancy is subject to village inspection.

However, Jensen said he will consider an ordinance for the next meeting that would require mobile homes to be brought up to code before they can be moved to a lot.

Set clocks back this weekend

Daylight-saving time ends at 2 a.m. this Sunday. That means we'll get back that hour we lost in April.

The best procedure is to set your clocks back an hour when you go to bed Saturday night. If you retire at 11:30 p.m., for example, change the clock to 10:30 p.m.

Daylight-saving time begins the first Sunday in April and ends the last Sunday in October.

Fire officials, in conjunction with the time change, also urge residents to check the batteries in their smoke detectors.

Paved in gold?

Parking lot to cost $60,000

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

It won't be paved in gold. The price just makes it seem that way.

The Granite City Council unanimously approved expenditure of up to $60,000 for a parking lot downtown on Tuesday.

The lot will be located on a triangular block bounded by Delmar and Niedringhaus avenues and 19th Street, the former location of Graham's Book Store and the home of Coordinated Youth and Human Services until recently.

Joe Jumeau of Jumeau and Associates, the city's contractual engineer, initially estimated that the project would cost about $25,000. But several additions to the project, including removal and replacement of sidewalks, replacement of curbs and gutters, landscaping and filling old coal bins under the sidewalk, caused the lowest bid on the project to come in at more than $60,000.

The City Council approved the project, to be paid for with tax increment funds and community development block grant funds, without the landscaping.

The new lot will have 34 parking spaces, including two designated as handicapped spots. It will have an entrance from 19th Street and two from Niedringhaus Avenue.

DeLaurent Construction Co. was the low bidder on the project.

The proposed parking lot site is located directly across 19th Street from the former Lord Nelson's clothing store Barrel Restaurant that the city acquired last week from Mildred Hedger.

While the Hedger building was a good city must pay demolition costs up to $38,000 under the terms of an agreement with Hedger. Tax increment and community development funds will be used to raze the building.

News in review

News in review provides a summary of some of the past week's stories. This column is designed for out-of-town readers who do not receive the Sunday and Wednesday Press-Record Journals.

Inmate charged in murder plot

Anthony J. Wallace of Granite City was charged with one count of solicitation to commit murder and one count of solicitation to commit aggravated kidnapping in a warrant issued Friday. Police said Wallace, who is currently in jail on a charge of home invasion for allegedly breaking into his mother-in-law's home and stabbing her, offered cash and four ounces of cocaine to another man to kidnap and kill his mother-in-law so that she could not testify against him at his home invasion trial.

Police Chief Dave Ruebhausen said the offer was made by Wallace in a telephone call from the county jail.

Ex-POW finally gets his due

Fifty years ago, a Pontoon Beach soldier performed above and beyond the call of duty in World War II. On Friday, U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello presented Lester Sullivan with seven medals honoring him for his heroics. Sullivan served with the Army's 101st Airborne for four years and 10 months. He was captured as a prisoner of war Oct. 31, 1944, and held for seven months. He has been entitled to the medals since his release, but he's never asked for them.

Salaried employees fear cuts

In addition to producing steel, Granite City Steel has become an efficient rumor mill lately, workers say. But several employees there say word of a memorandum outlining a National Steel plan to phase out up to half of all corporate salaried employees is more than just a rumor. Bob Maxx III, manager for public relations at the Granite City Division, said he too has heard the rumors, but would neither confirm nor deny them. Among the most prominent rumors is word of a 25 to 50 percent cut in all exempt staff, said a worker.

Jet skier saves two on Mississippi

Paul Blattner went out Wednesday afternoon to enjoy the pleasant weather and one of his last joy rides of the jet-skiing season. Little did he know he would be fishing people out of the Mississippi River an hour later. Blattner, 33, a Granite City resident, pulled a man and woman out of the river after their pontoon boat had been hit by a barge.

Skoklo resigns school board

Madison School Board member Sue Skoklo resigned from the board last week because she feels the board let voters down by approving a pay raise for teachers. Following a strike threat from Madison teachers, the board approved a three percent raise in each of a two-year contract. Last November, voters approved a bond issue and tax increase referendum to help the financially-strapped school district. "The reason I resigned when I did was because last year when the community voted for the tax referendum, I felt that we made an obligation to use that money to balance the budget and not give raises. I don't think that obligation was met," Skoklo said.

Drugs, gun, cash seized

Granite City police confiscated a cache of methamphetamine powder with a street value of $5,000, a .357-caliber Magnum handgun and ammunition, and other drugs and paraphernalia when executing a search warrant in the 2300 block of Bryan Avenue Thursday night. William A. Copeland III, 33, was charged with one count of unlawful possession of a controlled substance with the intent to deliver, one count of unlawful possession of a weapon by a felon, and two counts of unlawful delivery of a controlled substance. Dawn M. Tomshack, 28, was charged with unlawful possession of a controlled substance.

Water rescue team tackles lake

By Alene Hill
Correspondent

While residents around Thompson Lake in Collinsville might expect to see a few people fishing on a sunny fall day, they don't usually host scuba divers. Last Saturday, however, neighbors watched as teams of scuba divers, attached to a rope held by "line tenders" standing on the bank, systematically moved in and out of the water as part of a training exercise for Bubblemasters Underwater Rescue Team, or BURT.

"This is the first time they've been here," said Ken Larsens, watching the action in his back yard, "but they're talking about a winter dive when (the lake) freezes. That should be interesting."

BURT, a voluntary crew of specialized scuba divers, was formed in 1968 to recover drowning victims, stolen property and evidence for law enforcement agencies in Southern Illinois and Missouri.

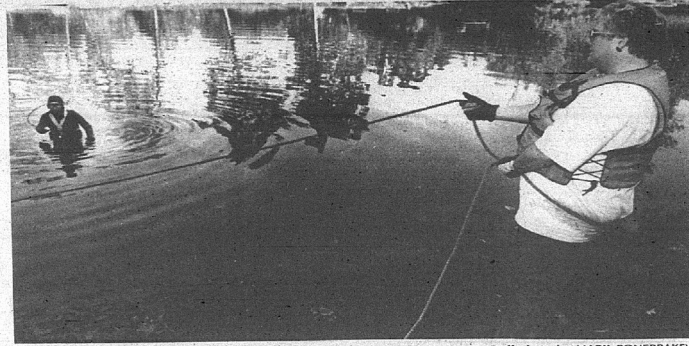

"We decided to start the BURT when none of the local fire or police departments had an underwater rescue and recovery team," said Fred Sarrach, one of the founders of the group.

Saturday's training mission required divers to locate, on the bottom of the lake, a dummy, two handguns and a rifle planted by Sarrach, who organized the drill and serves as safety and training director.

"This is difficult to do; the diver can see nothing," Sarrach said. "They feel with their feet, thighs and hands—that's why we don't use fins, we have to use feet to feel." The fact anyone finds anything at all at the bottom of a murky lake is not surprising to Sarrach.

"That's what the training is all about. The diver communicates with hand signals, touching each other. They communicate with the line tender through the rope," he said.

"Divers have recovered a .25-caliber hand pistol in the Mississippi River, and then Marge Crockarell of Granite City, a BURT lieutenant, holds onto the rope tied to Tim Underhill of Alton who is under the water. Also in the water, half-submerged, is John Whitney of Belleville. In case Tim has any immediate problems, John is nearby so he could be there to help in seconds.

you're dealing with a current as well," he said. "That's more trouble."

Diving teams, consisting of a primary diver, safety diver and qualified line tender, comb the lake bottom in one of six particular patterns, Sarrach explained.

Line tenders, besides communicating with the diver by tugs on a rope attached to the diver, make the decision to send the safety diver if they sense a problem with the primary diver, said Paula Weiss, a Granite City resident who began 20 years ago with BURT.

Weiss holds the distinction as the first female member of the team, when as a certified diver, she asked to join.

A rescue diver was called to go in when John Whitney, a BAC student and diver from Belleville, unhooked his line after it became caught.

"I knew my rope was tangled, so I unhooked my line to try to unravel it and lost the rope. I dropped my weights and had to surface," he said.

Ron Lounsbury, a Collinsville firefighter, became a qualified BURT diver last March. Before moving to Collinsville, he worked as a diver with the Litchfield Fire Department.

"I had heard about BURT in Litchfield, and when we came down here, I applied and was accepted," he said.

Divers accomplished their mission and recovered the dummy, although not in the time limits Sarrach had in mind.

They made a surprise discovery as well. A purse reported missing from Scotchwash laundry in September was found. The guns and rifle were eventually found also.

It takes about six to eight months for a certified diver to become a qualified BURT diver, explained Sarrach, and constant training sessions similar to the one conducted in Collinsville.

"This is not a job for sports divers," he said. "I know of at least six recreation divers that have gotten in trouble and drowned."

PUBLIC COMMENTS on the
NL INDUSTRIES/TARACORP SUPERFUND SITE

The United States Environmental Protection Agency (U.S. EPA) recently completed a Proposed Plan that evaluated the residential lead soil cleanup level for the NL Industries/Taracorp Superfund Site in Granite City, IL.

Based on current information, U.S. EPA is recommending 500 parts per million as a protective, practical cleanup level. In addition, U.S. EPA is continuing to review appropriate cleanup alternatives for the Taracorp site, main industrial area and ground water. Upon completion of pilot studies, U.S. EPA will hold another 30-day comment period and release a proposed plan and feasibility study for these areas. However, U.S. EPA is accepting comments on possible cleanup alternatives for these areas during the current comment period.

Copies of the proposed plan for the lead soil cleanup level and other site-related documents are available for review at the Granite City Public Library, 2001 Delmar Ave., Granite City, IL. An administrative record, which contains the documents upon which the cleanup plan will be based, has also been placed at the library.

Comments on the proposed plan, as well as on possible cleanup alternatives for the Taracorp site, main industrial area and ground water, may be submitted in writing to:

Park's new skating rule angers parent

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

At least one parent is angry about a new rule in Wilson Park limiting the time when cyclists and roller skaters may use the fitness trail.

The Granite City Park Board adopted the new rule last month and it went into effect last Friday. The rule prohibits the use of bicycles, in-line skates, roller skates or skateboards on the fitness trail from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and from 5 p.m. to sunrise.

But resident Peggy Greene believes the new rule discriminates against children because, by the time they get home from school, they have only about an hour or two to either bicycle or skate on the fitness trail around the park.

"I'm upset that my tax dollars go to support that park district to allow non-residents to walk that park any time, but my kid can't use it," Greene said.

"My kid has that right. I pay for that right. Until he abuses it, they're not going to take that right away," Greene said.

Greene said that the fitness trail was designed for use by everybody — not just joggers and walkers.

"They didn't consider any alternatives. They could split the trail. They could have bikers and skaters go in one direction and walkers and joggers go in the other direction," Greene said.

Dave Polivick, director of parks and recreation, said that alternatives were considered. But, he said, safety is the park district's top priority.

"This has been an issue of discussion for about a year. About nine months ago, we distributed leaflets at the trail warning cyclists and skaters to always give those on foot the right-of-way or something like this would be necessary," Polivick said.

There have been a couple of people hit and many close calls reported since that time, Polivick said.

"(The board) came to a compromise we felt would be fair to everyone. Our primary concern is safety while still allowing everyone to utilize the trail," Polivick said.

Meanwhile, Greene has written a letter to the park board and said that, if necessary, she will take her appeal to the public by carrying signs protesting the new rule.

"Sure, the kids can use it on the weekends. But I pay taxes seven days a week," Greene said.

Polivick said he has received

Crime bill treats only symptoms

TO THE EDITOR:
OK, for this nasty cold I'll take some generic Tylenol and an antihistamine — or maybe "so I can sleep" medicine. These "remedies," I understand, only treat the symptoms of my cold. Meanwhile the virus, unaffected even by antibiotics, must run its own miserable course — finally knocked out by the body's own natural defenses.

The above illustration comes to mind upon thinking of the recently passed plausibly called "The Crime Bill." This legislation, like the over-the-counter "cures," only treats the violent symptoms of our diseased nation. The local farmer can tell you the real cause: "You harvest what you plant. You plant corn — you harvest corn."

Over twenty years ago this nation gave the official "OK" to the gruesome murder of the innocent through abortion. Now, two decades later, our streets are filled with violence — coincidence? Similarly, the new moral beliefs of this generation have spawned a health care crisis that would have seemed unthinkable just thirty years ago — coincidence?

Let's put it this way...we who clamor for more policemen and prisons are ourselves found guilty of stealing and treason. From our ancestors who laid a foundation by blood, sweat, and basic moral character — we, their ungrateful offspring, consume what we did not earn nor deserve; and we betray their high ideals, their hopes, and dreams, in order to live in a putrid cesspool of our own design.

And who is to blame for the ruin of America? Before we point to the politicians, let's point to the politicians before we blast the university or public school, before we curse the leftward media or fallen press — we must first look at that unshaven mug that stares back at us in the morning mirror.

Whether it be the corporate executive with the manicured nails or the scarred calloused no-glory grunt, the American male, more than any other, deserves the brunt of condemnation. For it is we, the supposed head of our households, who have abandoned our responsibility and delegated to others that most important task of education. By pursuing our vain and worthless pursuits, we have left our children open to the whims of a ill-prepared to battle society's downward current. And we, in self-proclaimed ignorance, depend on others for the definition of truth...so America rots from the inside out.

But, I suppose it's not entirely too late. Perhaps if we admit our failure, we could begin again. We could dust off our granddaddy's Bible and learn that humankind is not a result of mutating simian creatures, but specifically designed to walk with God. We could teach our sons that real manhood begins with a bowed head and contrite heart. We could explain basic truths that every previous generation took for granted. Perhaps then the great lies of our current society can be overcome.

Unfortunately, like the ex-smoker who one lung, or those who appreciate Veterans' and Memorial Day due to a son's far away death — unfortunately, it often takes tragedy to wake us up. For some, it has happened. To many, it is happening. For America, it is waiting at the door.

AARP backs school bonds

TO THE EDITOR:
At the October meeting of American Association of Retired Persons Chapter 184, Steve Hamilton, teacher at Granite City High School, and three students, Erin Robertson, Nick Novackich and Andrea Malone, gave a presentation with regard to the preservation and restoration of Granite City High School.

After listening to the many needs of repair and improvements, a poll was taken of the membership and the vote was in favor of supporting this referendum.

Our future lies with the youth of this country, and we in Granite City want to ensure continued quality education in a safe and updated facility. PAULINE HANSON, President, AARP.

Help make good school memories

TO THE EDITOR:
Every time I go by the high school, I remember all the good times I had there. I don't have any bad memories.

Come this Nov. 8, I hope everyone who went to that grand old institution will vote "yes" to restore the high school if you have any fond memories, let's get out and vote.

Sometimes it's easy for some people who have had their kids out of school to forget about the kids coming in. Let's give the incoming kids a break and put them into a building the city could be proud of.

Another idle threat from GCS?

TO THE EDITOR:
Well, Granite City Steel is at it again. The city says that they might have to shut down if they don't get what they want from the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency. For years, Granite City Steel has been number one in Illinois for emissions of air pollutants and the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency has looked the other way.

Other companies have to abide by rules and regulations so why shouldn't Granite City Steel? Belcoff, Selph and Elserman should be fighting for more restrictions (not less) against Granite City Steel in order to clean up the air in Granite City. Community leaders all over the country have battled large corporations over the pollution of their environment and have won the battles. By the way, I wonder if the EPA has ever taken soil samples from Granite City Steel property?

Prehn has proven ability

TO THE EDITOR:
I heard Steve Davis say on the radio that he wants to bring jobs to the area with projected completion of I-255 and a light rail system. These are basically temporary construction jobs that will be gone when the projects are completed. What about good jobs?

Ted Prehn, has helped revive Eastgate Plaza, Wildfire Shopping Center, and Alton Plaza, bringing businesses and, with them, stable jobs. He also helped secure bond issues that kept jobs at Shell Oil, Clark Oil, and Laclede Steel, and he helped secure the funding for Robinson Steel's new facility. These are real jobs that won't all be gone in a couple of years.

For the working man, the choice for state representative is pretty clear. Steve Davis has no experience and ideas only for temporary jobs. Ted Prehn has the experience and the proven ability to bring and keep good jobs in the area. On November 8, punch #111 and vote for jobs. Vote for Ted Prehn.

Davis: Part of the problem

TO THE EDITOR:
This November, area residents have the opportunity to take one step in cleaning up government. In the 11th District, Ted Prehn is running against Steve Davis for a seat in Illinois House.

One candidate, a self-made businessman who volunteers his free time on several boards that serve the community. The other has already been on the taxpayer's rolls for 13 years, a career politician who is not likely to provide new solutions to what is wrong with government. Career politicians are part of the problem — not the solution.

One has to bring two differing parties together to reach a compromise that benefits both parties, and if he doesn't, his family doesn't eat. It's his living, and he is good at getting results. Davis sits behind a desk and gets a check from week to week, whether he gets results or not. If he does, the potholes in 12 miles of roads might get filled. Does this really qualify him for service in the Illinois House of Representatives? I don't think so.

Your home is where your heart is

If you want to know what's new in housing, attend a home show. We did that this fall at the Cervantes Convention Center in downtown St. Louis.

We learned that "today's design is one you can touch." Decorate, for example, with natural and textured fabrics such as stone-washed denim, linens, chenille, tapestry, burlap, jute, leathers, cotton, Egyptian cotton and flax.

Motifs are emphasizing flora and fauna. Choose patterns that feature leaves, florals, fish, shells, bears, butterflies, mountains and moose. Yes, moose.

There are collectibles from Native America, the cowboy — age, Africa, Hispanic or Latin cultures and Arabia.

Rural country designs incorporate Shaker styles, patchwork patterns, crate-label patterns, farmyard scenes, cows, fruit, flowers and vegetables.

For California country style, add botanicals, plaids, checks and stripes. Among the home colors recommended are white, off-white, beige, cream, hunter green, bright blue, jewel tones, natural woods, warm yellows of gold and ochre, and purples ranging from violet to grape.

Some designers are eliminating dining rooms in favor of expanded living family rooms or great rooms.

Some feature a teen bonus room with "bold colors and whimsical geometric patterns" on the floor, furniture and walls to create a sense of movement, activity and energy.

Kitchen hearth rooms afford a "comfort zone" with a primitive stone fireplace, a shaggy leather area rug and see-through maple cubbies. The color scheme can be watermelon, lime, lemon, moss green or tangerine with sharp black accents.

Cleanliness is given high priority in home plans, some of which have built-in vacuum systems, self-cleaning ranges, mirrored "soft" tubs, two-person whirlpools and expanded showers with two shower heads.

Front foyers include marble flooring and side entry areas are tiled for more rugged use. Some ceilings are sculptured.

Use of oak is being stressed, including countertop edging.

Almost any new home offers

Skylights are offered in bathrooms.

Many residences now include sliding doors and there are ceiling fans in kitchens and dens.

Some builders install pure-water drinking systems intended to remove lead, bacteria, asbestos and various chemicals.

Pianos date back hundreds of years but there are ever-new varieties for the home. Some can be played in total silence by practicing musicians who wish not to bother family members or neighbors. Other pianos produce beautiful sounds while the keys are played by invisible hands.

Also highlighted at the show were va-ted window, door, patio and driveway projects, both new and refurbished.

Displays included security systems, kitchen and bathroom innovations, wall improvements, landscaping, siding, spa, computerized sewing machines, insurance, swimming pools, mortgages, roofing, pet obedience, budget interior designing, closets, garages, fitness equipment, carpets, tools, pest control, back massagers, ladders, fountains, lighting, cutlery, creative picture framing and even underwater gardening indoors.

Almost any new home offers joy and excitement, but how long will it remain attractive and uncluttered?

Some of the best advice available at the home show was that of "the world's number one cleaning expert," Don Aslett. He frequently appears on public television and has authored a best-selling book, "Is There Life After Housework?"

Aslett not only tells how to clean one's home faster and better but also uses humor to show how pointless it is to retain most of the junk, papers and worn-out gadgets that accumulate and take up needed storage space.

Last but not least, you could learn how to spruce up walls with artworks ranging from paintings to photographic scenes to portraits and to posters.

A home obviously is important. It provides not only a roof over one's head but also serves as a peaceful haven, a place to get away from the workaday world.

But any place of abode needs to be kept in perspective. The two most ornate residences we've ever seen were viewed many years ago in Washington, D.C.

They were the embassies of Iraq and Iran, and look what happened to those countries.

Think of your neighbors: Don't burn leaves

Sure, you can burn your leaves. But it'd be a lot better if you didn't.

For many people, the ritual of raking leaves and burning them is a nostalgic tradition, a rite of fall that we just don't want to give up.

But times change, and indisputable scientific evidence shows us that burning leaves is bad for our atmosphere and bad for the health of people with asthma or other respiratory diseases.

allowing residents to bag them and place them at curbside for collection or rake them into gutters or alleys where they will be vacuumed.

Ultimately, those leaves are composted, since state law prohibits disposal of yard waste in landfills. Most gardeners have already discovered that the relatively simple process of composting leaves right on their own property pays returns many times over in mulch and soil conditioners.

Yet burning persists among people who resent the additional effort or the small cost of the biodegradable bags sometimes required for curbside collection. Others continue to burn because they simply resent yet another government requirement or are devoted to the seasonal tradition.

If you must burn, for whatever reason, know that you are contributing to the pollution of our already filthy atmosphere and that you may be causing discomfort or even endangering the health of people next door or down the street.

Explore the alternatives. They're good for your neighbors and the air you breathe.

Stephens wins endorsement

Jim Tobin, chairman of Tax Accountability '94, announced the association's endorsement of State Rep. Ron Stephens for re-election in the 110th District.

"Representative Stephens has distinguished himself by opposing and voting against any and all efforts to increase state or local taxes," Tobin said.

"His support of the Tax Accountability Amendment, which would make it tougher to raise state taxes, and the Tax Freedom Act, which would roll back and cap property taxes at 1990 levels, are clear indications of Rep. Stephens' commitment to the people of his district and this state," Tobin said.

Bus terminal to displace Cassens

By Scott Wuerz
Staff writer

Madison County Transit District officials announced last that a new bus terminal will displace one of the city's oldest and most successful downtown businesses.

Cassens and Sons Dodge Chrysler Plymouth, which has occupied the site at the corner of Hillsboro Avenue and North Main Street since 1933, will move to another area of Edwardsville.

Thus, the bus terminal, which is part of a plan to bring shoppers into downtown Edwardsville, will be occupying the site of one of the city's oldest and most successful businesses.

At an announcement ceremony Thursday, Albert Cassens reminisced about the early days of the family business.

"About 60 years ago my mother and father were able to scrape enough money together to buy this lot," Cassens said.

"That was pretty tough to do in the middle of the Depression."

"There is a lot of sentiment about this location, but the Cassens family has always had an excellent relationship with the City of Edwardsville and with Madison County, so we decided we were willing to move."

Madison County Transit District Executive Director Jerry Kane said he negotiated with the Cassens family for about six months to complete the deal to purchase the property.

Terms of the agreement were not released, but the total cost of the new station is expected to be about $2 million.

"The people of Madison County owe a tremendous debt to the Cassens family," Kane said. "I know this property has a tremendous amount of sentimental value for their family, but I can assure them that (the bus terminal) will be a very fine building we can all be proud of."

other sites before finalizing negotiations to buy the Cassens dealership, but a suitable alternative could not be found, Kane said.

The Cassens site will be just a few steps away from the Madison County Courthouse and Administration Building on North Main Street, as well as the new Edwardsville City Hall under renovation on Hillsboro Avenue.

The site will also add 122 spaces of much-needed parking for downtown Edwardsville businesses.

While plans for the terminal are ready to go, it will be about a year until construction begins, Kane said. The time will be needed to allow the auto dealership to relocate.

"We've got about three options

(of where to relocate)," Cassens said. "But we're leaning toward an 8-acre piece of property we own near the new high school on Center Grove Road."

Cassens said the former National grocery store site on Troy Road was another possible alternative. The National property has been unoccupied since the store relocated to Illinois 159 in May.

THE LAW AND YOU

By RICK REED
Attorney At Law

When a husband and wife have their wills prepared, it is usually recommended that each spouse have his own will. Generally the wills in this situation provide that when the first spouse dies, all of this person's property will pass to the surviving spouse. The question sometimes arises in these situations regarding the status of the wills if the parties obtain a divorce after the wills are signed.

Illinois law provides that a dissolution of marriage (divorce) revokes any gift under a will to the deceased person's former spouse. This is true as long as the will was signed before the entry of the divorce itself. Therefore, there may be no need to have new wills prepared in the event the husband and wife are divorced since the former spouse usually would not receive anything under the terms of the original will.

In one Illinois case, a husband signed his will in 1953. According to the terms of the will, he left all of his property to his wife. The will also provided that if his wife died before him, all of his property would pass to his wife's son.

After the will was signed, the husband and wife obtained a divorce. Shortly after the divorce, the man died. The question arose as to who would receive his property after his death.

Applying Illinois law to the facts of this case, the Appellate Court held that the divorce destroyed any interest that the ex-spouse had under the will. Therefore, she received nothing at the time of her former husband's death. The trial court had gone one step further and ruled that the divorce actually revoked the will, and that therefore the stepson also was to receive nothing under the will. The Appellate Court, however, reversed this holding, and found that the divorce did not destroy the will and did not revoke it. The will remained in effect, but the former wife received nothing because of the divorce. The stepson in this case inherited all of the deceased person's property.

A tradition of leadership continues

For 18 years, our area has moved forward thanks to the leadership of State Representative Jim McPike. As Majority Leader of the Illinois House of Representatives, McPike has brought dozens of major projects to our area, including the new Clark Bridge, the Bern Highway, the new Route 67, and major improvements to the campuses of Lewis and Clark Community College and the SIU-Alton Dental School.

"Steve Davis has my full confidence. His intelligence and his commitment to this area will make him an outstanding state representative."

—Retiring State Representative
Jim McPike

Just as important, McPike has been a leading voice for the concerns of working men and women, fighting for important legislation defending workers rights, protecting the environment, and funding our schools.

We can keep strong and effective leadership working for us by electing Steve Davis as Jim McPike's successor in the Illinois House of Representatives. An experienced public servant, Steve Davis will fight for working families as our next state representative.

Ryan attacked for gifts from owners of leased buildings

SPRINGFIELD — Democratic secretary of state candidate Pat Quinn is ripping incumbent George Ryan for accepting campaign contributions from owners of buildings leased by Ryan's office, including one each in Bethalto and Jerseyville. Quinn said Thursday state records show 28 individuals or firms with annual leases totaling more than $1 million paid by the secretary of state's office have contributed more than $42,000 to Ryan's campaign.

"Politically connected leases are another example of George Ryan being more worried about serving himself and his friends than serving the customers," Quinn said.

Among the campaign contributions Quinn listed was $1,700 from Norbert Goetten, who owns a Jerseyville building Ryan's office leases for $38,400 per year to house a driver service facility.

The list also included $1,150 in campaign contributions by VGM Investments, which owns the building that houses the driver service facility at St. Louis Regional Airport in Bethalto. The building leases for $28,616 per year.

Ryan spokesman Kim St. Aubin said the two leases and most of the others on Quinn's list were originally entered into long before Ryan became secretary of state.

The Bethalto facility has been leased since 1980 and the Jerseyville building since 1978.

Both were originally leased during the administration of Democrat Alan Dixon. St. Aubin said Goetten is director of the State's Attorney's Appellate Prosecutor Office and a former Greene County state's attorney. He would not comment Thursday about Quinn's charges.

VGM Investments is a partnership composed of Virgil Wehking of Holiday Shores, Greg Goode, who lives in Montana, and Meredith Wilson of Dorsey. They could not be reached for comment Thursday.

Tip Of The Month October, 1994

October is one of the most beautiful months of the year, but towards the end, kids are thinking only ONE thing
HALLOWEEN!!!

This year, let common sense rule the day. The Granite City Police Department offers the following suggestions to make your Halloween a safe one:

1. For younger children, Trick or Treating BEFORE dark with an adult is safest. For older children, set a curfew...and stick to it.
2. Bright-colored costumes show up best to motorists. Flashlights are an excellent idea.
3. Make sure your child can see clearly through the mask.
4. Throw away candy not wrapped. Cut open fruit and examine before eating. Call the police if suspicious candy is found.
5. Know where your children are going.
6. Drive safely. Remember, kids get excited and are not accustomed to walking the streets at night.

Trick or Treating will be allowed on Monday, Oct. 31 til 9 pm.

For Seventy Years I've Been There For You!
Now I Need Your Help!

Dear Friends and Neighbors,

For the past seventy years I have proudly served the Granite City School District. In those seventy years some of the finest students in the country have passed through my doors. I have provided you and your children with many fond memories of your high school years. Now as I enter the twilight years of my life I must call on all of you for help in preparing me for future generations.

At my age I find myself in need of a great deal of work. My roof leaks, my windows will not stay open without some support nor are they very energy efficient. My wiring has not aged very gracefully and needs to be updated to support modern technology. In addition I would like to see my insides renovated to make better use of existing classroom space as well as to provide easier access for handicapped students and visitors. I would also like to add some new classrooms so my students will not have to share space at Coolidge Jr. High School.

On November 8th you will be asked to support a bond issue that will provide funds to make these changes. With these badly needed changes I will be able to serve future generations of the Granite City School District with pride and dignity as I have those in the past.

Supporting this bond issue will allow the Granite City School District to make needed improvements WITHOUT INCREASING YOUR TAXES

Warriors beat Triad in regional final Gibault up next in sectional semis

By Tony Panozzo
Staff writer

The Warrior soccer team made coach Gene Baker's 500th career victory an easy one Tuesday with a 5-0 decision over Triad in a regional championship game at The Gauntlet.

Shawn Petroski led the way with three goals — his fourth hat trick of the season — as the Warriors (18-3) took a 1-0 half-time lead and overpowered the Knights with four goals in the second half. Granite City advanced to today's 5 p.m. SIUE Sectional semifinal against Waterloo Gibault.

THE WARRIORS, seeded first, will lead the field at SIUE's new stadium (Bob Guelker Field). No. 3 Collinsville will take on No. 10 Belleville West in the second semifinal at 7 p.m.

Baker won his 18th regional title in 22 years and picked up his 500th career victory, including his six years at Riverview Gardens (1968-73). He was presented with a crystal soccer ball from his players during a post-game ceremony.

"I think the kids wanted it more than I did," Baker said. "I had mixed feelings, because we're trying to be as focused as we can on the tournament."

The Warriors took another step forward with their second straight shutout in post-season play. Granite City dominated the contest, outshooting Triad 29-3.

THE WARRIORS took an early advantage when Petroski scored 8:45 into the game, but did not score again until the second half. The Knights played with the Warriors for the first 40 minutes, but seemed to wear down in the second half. "I thought we did well in the first half," Triad coach Harold Schwehr said. "Obviously, we can't compete with Granite City. But maybe next year we'll be a little better."

"I thought they were a pretty good club," Baker said. "They were physical and they played hard."

Petroski gave Granite City a 1-0 lead when he took a crossing pass from Matt Little inside the penalty area and beat Triad goalkeeper Chad Williams with a shot to the left corner of the net. Paule Bucherich began the play with a drive from the left side, and Petroski's shot deflected off Williams' hands.

THE WARRIORS had several scoring chances during the rest of the half. Bucherich gave GCHS some breathing room early in the second half when he scored at 47:13 on an assist from Justin McMillan.

The Warriors continued to put heavy pressure on Triad's defense, resulting in two straight goals by Petroski. Little set up the next score with a centering pass down the slot to Steve Logan, who ran into Williams and a pair of defenders before redirecting the ball to Petroski on the left side. Petroski finished the play by tapping the ball into an empty net for a 3-0 lead at 40:22.

Petroski made it 4-0 on a penalty kick at 62:49. After drawing a foul just inside the 18-yard line, Petroski knocked the resulting PK past Williams for his 36th goal of the year.

It was the 10th goal in the last three games for Petroski, the Warriors' leading scorer and one of the area's most productive players.

"I'D HEARD A lot about Petroski, and a lot of what I heard is true," Schwehr said. The Warriors controlled play through the entire second half and finished strong. Jared Embick scored Granite City's final goal off a goalmouth scramble at 71:27, and Jeff Hayes nearly made it 6-0 when he blasted a shot off the crossbar with 4:18 to play.

GCHS goalkeeper Mike Bristol was in net most of the way for the shutout, and backup goalie Jayson York took over for the final 15:45. It was the Warriors' 13th shutout of the season and eighth in their past nine games.

Granite City's defense shut down Triad's top two scoring threats, forwards Chris Bingham and Andrew Miller.

"IF THEY COULD have gotten a little more room to operate, they would have been all right," Schwehr said. "Our mid-fielders weren't as strong as theirs, and they controlled that part of the game."

Lady Warriors beat Wood River; face Jerseyville in regional finals

By Rob Raphael
Correspondent

Peaking at the right time? Maybe so, according to GCHS volleyball coach Cindy Gagich. The host Lady Warriors played like a No. 2 seed Tuesday as they easily defeated Wood River 15-9, 15-2 in a Class AA regional semifinal.

GRANITE CITY WILL get a chance to look like a No. 1 seed today when they go up against Jerseyville in the regional finals at 7 p.m. at Memorial Gymnasium.

The Panthers defeated Alton 15-5, 15-11 in the first semifinal Tuesday.

As it has been for most of the second half of the season, the Lady Warriors' serving was their strong point. Granite City (15-17-2) was perfect on the night (43 for 43) from behind the line the first time this season they have been as proficient.

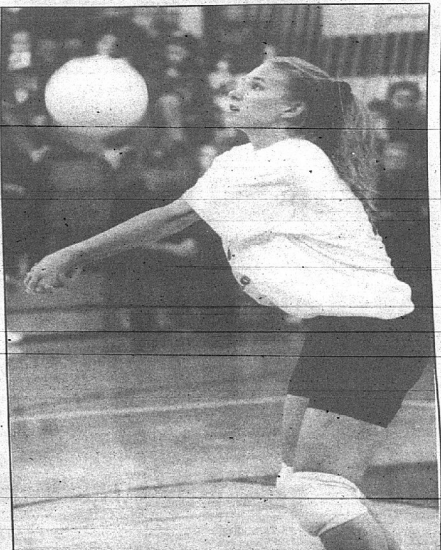

"That was certainly our best game in two weeks," Gagich said. "The girls had fun tonight, and we always gear up for the regionals. This is the time when you have to play well."

Wood River coach Sandy Magurany was asked if she knew coming in that the Lady Warriors' serving had improved so much.

"I NEVER SAW anything wrong with it before," she said. "They did a good job, and kept us reeling during the entire match."

Julie Bohnenstiehl was the serving star of game one, as she served eight consecutive points against the Oilers (5-17), including five aces.

Petroski's aim dead on for GCHS scoring mark

By Tony Panozzo
Staff writer

As the St. Louis area's leading scorer, Granite City's Shawn Petroski has had his eyes on the net all year.

But as the post-season unfolds, Petroski has found some added incentive.

PETROSKI HAS TURNED his game up a notch in the past few games and is suddenly on a record pace. Petroski had eight goals in Granite City's two regional games, and he upped his season total to 36 goals Tuesday with three more against Triad in a 5-0 victory.

Petroski enters tonight's sectional semifinal match against Waterloo Gibault just three goals away from tying the GCHS single season record of 39 goals set by Granite City South's Greg Feigel in 1977.

Petroski has scored 10 goals in the Warriors' past three games. After scoring both goals in a 2-0 victory over St. Louis U-High last week, he struck for five more in Saturday's 12-0 victory over Metro East Lutheran.

For his efforts, Petroski has been named the East Side Publications Journal Athlete of the Week.

WHILE PETROSKI has emphasized team success over his personal achievements, the senior striker admits he has been thinking about Feigel's record.

"I'm counting down," Petroski said. "It's good to get as many goals as I've had, but I didn't think I'd go this high. I've just tried to be consistent all season."

Petroski has four hat tricks this year and has scored in 16 of Granite City's 20 games. The senior striker ranks second overall in the area in scoring

Baker reaches 500 milestone

By Tony Panozzo
Staff writer

After playing their final home game of the season Tuesday, the Warrior soccer team gave coach Gene Baker something to remember them by following a 5-0 victory over Triad.

During a post-game ceremony to commemorate Baker's 500th high school coaching win, senior captain Corey Kessler presented the coach with a crystal soccer ball inscribed with the names of this year's players. Fans poured onto the field to congratulate Baker after watching the Warriors win a regional title for the 14th time in Baker's 22 seasons in Granite City.

THE 500TH WIN was yet another milestone for Baker, who enjoyed the post-game gift from his players.

"It's beautiful," Baker said. "It was awfully nice of the."

the top of his game. But GCHS coach Gene Baker isn't so sure.

"SOME PEOPLE SAY he's just starting," Baker said. "He's made so much progress as a player, and he's really matured."

Petroski has been shut out in just four games this season. Sept. 15 against CBC, Sept. 20 against Alton Marquette, Sept. 21 against Duchesne and Oct. 7 against Aquinas-Mercy.

In three of those games, the Warriors lost by shutout. But since losing 1-0 to Aquinas-Mercy on Oct. 7, Granite City has won four straight games and is unscored upon in that span.

Because Petroski has been the Warriors' leading scorer over the past two years, he has drawn considerable attention from opposing defenders. But lately, he has been overcoming most attempts to slow him down.

Petroski was marked heavily by SLUH's Joe Gallo last week and had to work harder than usual for his scoring chances. Petroski got off only two shots in the entire contest — and scored on both.

THE TWO GOALS came in the final 12 minutes of regulation and from almost the same spot on the field — just outside the 18-yard line on the left side. On his first goal, Petroski appeared to be almost standing still before blasting a shot past SLUH goalkeeper Dave Jettson.

"I just touched it once and let it go," Petroski said. "That was a great feeling. At the beginning of the game, I was being marked heavily. In the second half, I started to relax and get in my game."

Petroski scored his second goal on a restart lined up just outside the box. After Greg Sturdivant ran across the ball, Petroski gave it one of his trademark blasts. The goal came with 5:53 remaining and sealed the Warriors' victory.

"It was great," Petroski said. "Beating a team of that caliber was a great win coming into the playoffs."

Petroski saw limited action Saturday against Lutheran and made the most of it. He scored three straight goals in the first half and scored two more in the first 4:02 of the second half before leaving the game.

THE WARRIORS advanced to Tuesday's game against Triad, and Petroski inched closer to the school record.

"You think about it now," Petroski said afterward. "But during the game you just keep your mind on what you have to do."

Petroski and the Warriors will now focus on tonight's game against Gibault at Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville. The contest will feature a matchup between Petroski and Toal, the area's top scorers.

The winner will advance to Saturday's sectional championship game at SIUE. The Warriors are trying to win their first sectional title since 1990, the last year they won state.

Petroski said he is taking one game at a time, but he can't help thinking about breaking Feigel's record — or the prospect of winning a state title.

"That would be great," Petroski said. "It would definitely be a year to remember."

kids."

"It's great for Coach," said Kessler, who has been a team captain for the past two years. "He's carrying on tradition, and that's what it's all about."

Baker has compiled an overall record of 500-100-30, including 68-20 in five years at Riverview Gardens (Mo.). He is the all-time winningest prep soccer coach in Illinois and ranks third nationally behind former CBC coach Bob Horgan and former St. Louis U. High coach Elbie Dunn.

Dunn is the all-time leader with 592 victories, and Horgan ranks second with 571. Dunn's all-time record appears to be one of the few plateaus left for Baker, who has won nine state titles and developed countless college players.

"IT'S BEEN enjoyable," Baker said. "I've had the privilege of coaching a lot of good kids and teams. I've coached a lot of successful student-athletes."

Tuesday's victory was a special one for Baker and the Warriors. It was the final game of the season at The Gauntlet for Granite City, which advanced to today's SIUE Sectional semifinals.

The Warriors defeated Triad behind a hat trick from Shawn Petroski, the team's leading scorer. Petroski held up the regional title plaque following the win.

"This was our last game here," Petroski said. "We wanted to make (Baker's) 500th win memorable. I just hope it doesn't stop here."

So does Baker. The last time the Warriors advanced to the state tournament was 1990, the year they won their ninth title under Baker and their 10th overall.

BAKER BEGAN coaching at Granite City South in 1973. Baker started the program at Riverview Gardens in 1968. The Warriors placed third at state in Baker's first year after winning the first-ever Illinois High School Association soccer title in 1972. Baker led Granite City South back to state in 1975 and then directed the Warriors to five straight state titles from 1976-80.

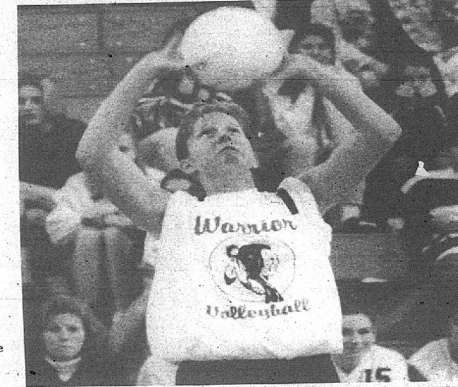

The Warriors also won state titles under Baker in 1982, 1987, 1989 and 1990. He was inducted into the Illinois Soccer Hall of Fame in 1987. Two years ago, he reached his 400th win with Granite City.

Dave Ames, one of the Warriors' assistant coaches along with Virgil Kirksey, joined the GCHS staff in 1983 and has been on the sidelines with Baker for the past 11 years. Ames said he remembers when Baker earned his 300th victory and found the latest milestone mind-boggling.

"That's a lot of wins," Ames said. "That's half a thousand. I haven't been here for every one of them, but we've put a lot of work in together."

next test will come tonight against Gibault. The Hawks feature two high-scoring forwards, seniors Josh Toal and Jerry Walski. Toal leads all players in the St. Louis area with 38 goals.

"It could be a toughie," Baker said. "They've got plenty of talent."

Denise McMillian sets the ball during Tuesday's match at Memorial Gymnasium.

Garden Study Club views variety of exhibits

The October meeting of the Garden Study Club was held at Shoney's Restaurant on Nameoki Road. There were 11 members present. Mary Mang called the meeting to order, and the Club Collect and the Pledge of Allegiance was recited in unison. Roll call was taken and answered to "name your favorite dried plant material". A discussion was held on bringing indoors potted plants that contain mealy bugs and slugs. The program, "Bringing in the Plants" and "Fall Cleanup", was read by Mary Stomum.

Exhibits were brought by Clara Winter, including blue salvia, dried basil, golden yarrow, purple cone flower, bronze color mum, pampa grass, live forever and fever artemisia. Mang brought Indian corn and gourds. Members were reminded that names will be drawn at the November meeting for the Christmas gift exchange. The exhibit for November will be "Activities Arrangement" and "Horn of Plenty", a cornucopia-type container. The meeting will be held at noon Nov. 2 at Shoney's on Nameoki Road.

Others present were Irene Dorogoch, Jean Holder, Christine Hornberger, Catherine Kostoff, Helen Meyer, Marie Oestken, Ruth Poison and Bonnie Rutkowski.

Self-involvement and self-value takes a rocket ride as the moon glides gracefully into dramatic Leo. The benefit is that generosity also follows this trend. It's the perfect climate for all kinds of artists to schedule showcases or home past performances for a replay. Work is merely a means to an end now, so be patient — your lack of enthusiasm is only temporary.

pect is right up your alley. Deliver research items before the due date — you'll get points for responsibility. Enjoy romance with a Gemini.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Alternate plans are more elegant — be flexible. Avoid money issues that could cloud a beautiful time. An educational venture moves ahead. An impromptu offer is kind but not related to your goals. Vivid dreams have meanings.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). A day spill in your love life ends. Help a friend meet a deadline, and you help yourself out of a future pinch. Enterprise is more successful when you include a family member. Resolve to make an entrance.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). A pay raise is finalized. Answer questions concerning your personal life with candor — intrigue grows. Meetings go long, and attention runs short — find ways to trick yourself into seeming interested.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Oct. 27). Brilliant ideas in November bring a holiday-season windfall if you back them up with your unbeatable style. You'll be asked to solve problems at work in December and January — this leads to a promotion, but things aren't finalized until spring. April and May are so busy you may seldom be home, but love knows where to find you. June and July are marriage months.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). A romantic interlude paves the way for long-lasting love. A work day teaches you the best way to approach asking for a raise. Relax — you are the only one who noticed a loved one's social blunder.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). A clever personal discovery changes your schedule. Exercise your influence at work in a new and creative way. People who love you are in for a surprise. A search is not in vain — but it may take longer than expected.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Those who say you spread yourself thin will envy the broad-branged results you achieve now. Work on your vocabulary. A romance generates giddy excitement. Persuade loved ones to be more conscientious of your space.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). A long-awaited word comes in the mail. Save time by making phone calls first. Relationship woes are for another day — you taste nothing but sugar now. Request top-notch treatment from an expensive service.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). You gain fans with little effort. Practicalities don't enter the romantic picture — put away the illusion for now. Instruct a child with a list to prevent misunderstandings. Have no fear — rumors are incorrect.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). You rattle off brilliant answers when the stakes are up. Elders express approval — whether you seek it or not. Friends make inquiries — you speak from experience. Be detailed with expectations of love.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). A new era of romance begins tonight. Be privy to classified information by befriending the office know-it-all. Power shifts at home give you a chance to add your two cents. Organize travel now to avoid last-minute complications.

'Wood's' Landau gives Lugosi a good final role

Martin Landau's film career auspiciously began with Alfred Hitchcock's "North by Northwest," then it headed south. These days, though, the compass needle on "S" stands for success.

He received an Academy Award nomination for best supporting actor as the business manager in Francis Ford Coppola's 1988 movie "Tucker: The Man and His Dream," and again the next year as the adulterous (and murderous) ophthalmologist in Woody Allen's "Crimes and Misdemeanors."

Now his Bela Lugosi portrayal in director "Tim Burton's 'Wood' has critics gushing that he'll get his third Oscar nod in seven years.

For a decade starting in the 1970s, however, Landau went from one bad role to another in such forgettable flicks as "Black Gunn," "A Town Called Hell," and "Meteor."

"I was acting," he said. "I wasn't driving a taxi cab or waiting on tables, which people do, gladly. No, I was playing mindless, one-dimensional villains in stupid movies."

Those heavies simply couldn't be depicted as human beings with complexities, he said.

Landau fondly recalled one textured bad guy he got to play: the gaunt, icy Leonard in "North by Northwest."

Leonard eventually plummeted off Mount Rushmore, and Landau's film career looked like it might take off, with roles in such films as the big-budget "Cleopatra."

Instead, his movie career languished. During that time, he said, "I never did anything that embarrassed me, really embarrassed me. But there's a lot of stuff I would like to turn into guitar picks."

The 6-foot-2, 90-something New York-born actor probably is best remembered as the disfigure expert, Rollin Hand, in the 1966 TV series "Mission: Impossible." Those protean proclivities carry over into a chameleon-like quality in real life, he said.

Burton offered Landau the Lugosi role because he thought the actor would understand "a very deep level" the man who everyone knows as the definitive Dracula.

Burton, who directed "Batman," "Beetlejuice," and "Edward Scissorhands," told Landau: "Your career's been a-roller coaster. You've been down on your luck, like he has been. You've made comebacks. ... You did tacky television; you've done horror movies. All of that."

Landau said he could empathize with Lugosi, whose sad last years consisted of feeding his drug and alcohol addiction and playing incoherent parts in movies by Edward D. Wood Jr., acknowledged as the worst Hollywood director of all time.

Landau researched the role by watching about 25 old Lugosi movies and studying the Hungarian accent, which he characterized as hard to acquire and hard to lose. The heavy accent contributed to Lugosi's downfall as an actor.

He also drove around to Lugosi's various residences, seeing the descent of a once great star who wound up in a seedy hotel.

"I began to respect this guy and pity him. I saw the humor in him. This for me became a love letter to him, and almost an homage to him, because he never got a chance to get out of that," Landau said.

Although BMWs and Mercedes are the choice mode of transportation for today's yuppie crowd, vehicles from an earlier time get many car enthusiasts' motors running.

A growing number of Americans are getting revved up over antique cars.

The Okaw Valley Classic Chevy Club and other local groups provide a chance for those who share the hobby to meet and discuss their love of old cars.

Dennis LaDrew of O'Fallon said he started collecting, refurbishing and driving old cars about 10 years ago when his oldest son turned 16 and got a 1957 Chevy.

"We started with an empty garage and now we have a three-car garage. We probably need to rent something more," he said.

The one car has turned into a family hobby and numerous two-door, a 1968 Chevrolet, a 1978 Malibu and LaDrew said he recently sold a 1957 Chevy and an Oldsmobile.

"It's a combination of my wife and the whole family getting involved. Me and my wife have it in common after the children were gone," he said.

Since that first car, the family has found a 1958 Chevy Bel Air, a two-door, a 1968 Chevrolet, a 1978 Malibu and LaDrew said he recently sold a 1957 Chevy and an Oldsmobile.

A member of the Okaw Valley club, LaDrew said he finds most of his cars by luck or through other people who know he is interested in antique Chevrolets. Automobile publications also help him track down the right

SIUE planning for 21st century

EDWARDSVILLE — Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville President Nancy Belck is calling on the university community to climb on board and help plan the school's future.

In her first major address since becoming president of SIUE Jan. 1, Belck called for a collective effort in mapping the university's future. She asked a crowd of 200 to consider what SIUE should be in 2007, its 50th year.

Students, faculty, staff and community members attended the convocation Wednesday in the campus' Vadalabene Center. All were given cards and asked to list their own ideas about what SIUE ought to be.

Belck recalled the 20th Century Limited, a passenger train of 50 years ago that sped between Chicago and New York in eight hours, and said "SIUE's 21st Century must be unlimited."

She said the 37-year-old university is growing and learning.

"Thanks to an outstanding faculty and staff who came to SIUE in its infancy, we have established a proud tradition," she said. "We can look back with pride and forward with great anticipation and enthusiasm. Now, we have a chance to design an unlimited future."

Belck outlined some of her priorities for SIUE's future:

— An increased emphasis on quality of academic programs and offerings.

— More cooperation with community colleges and other universities in the region, including SIU's Carbondale campus and Missouri institutions.

— A renewed focus on SIUE's role as a provider of educational services and economic development in the region.

She said steps toward those goals could include a review of admissions standards; developing the potential of University Park, SIUE's business and research park; expansion of partnerships with business and labor; and close cars.

"It could be an expensive hobby, but you make trips to the junkyards and the swap meets to find things you need. Some times you get luck and find what you need,"

Todd Biernann found his dream car, a 1967 Cobra, in Nebraska more than three years ago when he bought a replica car to build it himself.

"I couldn't afford the real one so I bought the kit piece by piece and started on it. It took 2 1/2 years to finish," the Fairview Heights man said.

"The Cobra is my favorite," Biernann, who also has an original 1965 Mustang, agreed the hobby is "pretty much expensive," but said those interested can shop around for a good deal like he does on weekends.

The deal is even better if the buyer can work on the car himself. Biernann said he has a strange work schedule, so he is often working alone at 2 or 3 a.m. to get the car done.

"I like the work — taking nothing and seeing it turn into something," he said.

Although dominated by men, women also are interested in old cars, including the restoration work. Donna Wildhaber of the Marine is vice president of the Okaw Valley Chevy club.

"I do crochet, embroider and quilt, but I enjoy the cars a lot," she said. "They mean a lot to me."

Wildhaber said she wanted a powder blue and white 1956 Chevy convertible, but her husband found a 1957 Chevy convertible for their 10th wedding anniversary in 1982 and she still loves it.

"It took two years to restore and we've had several chances to sell it, but I held on to it for sentimental reasons," she said.

Wildhaber estimated the family has had 347 antique cars in the 22 years she and her husband have been married.

"My husband just loves it. He buys them, fixes them up and sends them on down the road," she said. "I like to take them apart, but not put them back together."

Wildhaber said she had no experience in car repairs but picked up the skill from her husband. While he performs mechanical work on cars, she sands and masks the body. The two of them can repair an entire car, but often leave the interior work to someone else.

"It was his hobby when we got married, so I got involved to spend more time with him. I didn't want to be sitting in the house all the time," she said.

Forrest Feldt of Summerfield followed in his son's footsteps to antique cars about five years ago and has been "lucky" in his purchases.

His cherished "find" is a 1927 Chevy made of metal nailed to wood. It still has the original wood, floorboards and running boards and was in good shape when he bought it.

Feldt's goal is to have the three most popular antique Chevys — a 1927 two-door hardtop, a 1937 sedan and a 1957 convertible.

"The best thing I like about this is putting the cars together then going to the car shows," he said. "Everybody's seen one and they want one, but everybody can't produce one."
